THE CURIOSITY SHOP. cs of Interest-Languages, Duration of Life, Births and Deaths.

A German statistician says: There are, at present, 3,064 languages spoken by the inhabitants of our globe, whose religious convic-tions are divided between 1,000 different con-fessions of faith. The number of males is nearly equal to that of the females. The average duration of life is 33 years. Onefourth of the population of the earth dies be-fore attaining the seventeenth year. Of 1,000 persons only one reaches the age of 100 years, and not more than six that of 65 years. The entire population of the globe is upward of 1,200,000,000, of whom 35,214,000 die every year, 06,480 every day, 4,090 every hour, 67 every minute and 1 and a fraction every

On the other hand the births amount to 36,703,000 every year, 100,800 every day, 4,200 every hour, 70 every minute, I and a fraction every second. Married people live longer than the unmarried, the temperate and industrious longer than the gluttons and all the second control of th idle, and civilized nations longer than the uncivilized. Tall persons enjoy a greater longevity than small ones. Persons born in spring have a more robust constitution than those born at other seasons. Births and deaths occur more frequently at night than in the daytime. Only one-fourth of the male in-habitants of the globe grow up to carry arms or perform military service.

Indications of Eyes. There are persons who profess to interpret haracter by the lines on the palms of the hands, the color of the eyes, the hand writing and some other personal peculiarities. To what extent such interpretations are correct, of course, we cannot say. As to the color of the eyes being a test, the explanation as we find it is as follows: Clear, light blue, with calm, steadfast glance, denote cheerfulness, good temper, pensity to greenish tints in eyes of any color s a sign of wisdom and courage,

Pale blue or steel colored, with shifting motion of eyelids and pupils, denote deceitful ness and selfishness, Dark blue or violet denote great affection and purity, but not much intellectuality.

Blue, with greenish tints, are not so strong-

Gray or greenish gray, with orange and blue shades and ever varying tints, are the most intellectual, and are indicative of the impulsive, impressionable temperament—the mixture of the sanguine and bilious which roduces poetic and artistic natures.

The turnip originally came from Rome. The peach originally came from Per-sia. Sage is a native of the south of Europe. Sweet marjoram is a native of Portugal. The bean is said to be a native of Egypt. Damsons originally came from Damascua. The nasturtium came originally from Peru. The pea is a native of the south of Europe. Ginger is a native of the East and West Inthe east. The cucumber was originally a tropical vegetable. The gooseberry is indig-enous to Great Britain. Apricots are indigenous to the plains of America. Pears were originally brought from the east by the Romans. Capers originally grew wild in Greece and Northern Africa. The walnut is a na tive of Persia, the Caucasus and China. The clove is a native of the Malacca Islands, as also is the nutmeg. Vinegar is derived from two French words, vin aigre, sour wine.

The following poem occurs in Saxe Holmes' story, "Draxy Miller's Dowry," and is known as "Draxy's Hynin:"

I cannot think but God must know About the thing I long for so; I know he is so good, so kind, I cannot think but he will find Some way to help, some way to show Me to the thing I long for so.

I stretch my hand, it lies so near I stretch my hand, it lies so near,
It looks so sweet, it looks so dear.
"Dear Lord," I pray, "Oh, let me know
If it is wrong to want it so."
He only smiles—He does not speak;
My heart grows weaker and more weak
With looking at the thing so dear,
Which lies so far and yet so near.

Now, Lord, I leave at thy loved feet This thing that looks so near, so sweet; I will not seek, I will not long— I almost fear I have been wrong.
I'll go and work the barder, Lord,
And wait till by some loud, clear word,
Thou callest me to Thy loved feet, To take this thing so dear, so sweet. Education and Calling of Presidents.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Successful Use of Chloroform as an In ternal Remedy for Dyspepsia. A notable instance of the use of chloroform as an internal remedy is in the treatment of dyspepsia, in which it is said to overcome fer-mentation and flatulence. The following method of administration is recommended by Dr. Wils: From ten to twenty drops of chloroform to be taken in a few spoonfuls of sweet-improvement.

For painful dyspepsia with dilated stomach,
Drs. Regnault and Laseque have prescribed as follows: Chloroform water, 150 parts: orange flower water, 50 parts; water, 100 parts. One dessertspoonful to be taken, at intervals of fifteen minutes, until pain coases. Dr. Stepp, of Germany, has made numerous successful trials of chloroform used internally. In gastric ulcer he gave it (fifteen grains in a five ounce bismuth mixture) with great effect, which he helieves to be due to great effect, which he believes to be due to its disinfecting, astringent and stimulating properties. In various affections of the throat and mouth—as follicular pharyngitis, catarrh of the pharynx, gingivitis and diphtheria—washes and gargles containing chlo-roform proved very beneficial. In one case treated by several medical men, chloroform water effected a complete cure. Two cases of pneumonia, treated with chloroform, were remarkably satisfactory. Very encouraging results were obtained also in aix cases of typhoid treated with this remedy.
